Design & Draft

If you don't have a well designed pallet racking system in place, you could be:

- running out of room to store goods
- not taking advantage of vertical space
- putting your inventory, and your crew at risk, with unsafe stacking practices

At the request of the client, we draw up a draft project and take care of the whole process of design, tendering, supplies, set-up and implementing the operation of the installation.

Supply & Installation

- We supply all of our project materials under the required time constraints & with little mishap whilst maintaining the highest quality of service and guidance throughout your project.
- We install your warehousing solution exactly to your specification as signed off at the design stage, so you know exactly what you are expecting with no hidden costs.

Dismantling & Relocating

- We provide you with many options when it comes to relocation services.
- You may prefer to have us set up new racking in the new facility prior to relocating.
- This way we can move all your product over in a seamless move.
- We then come back and dismantle your old racking and give you the option of selling it away.
- Options are the key to successful relocation.

After-Sales Service

- Rack systems should be inspected by a qualified rack system inspector at least once a year, more often if there is frequent system damage. Results of the inspections should be documented and maintained for future reference. While a visual inspection will show obviously damaged it is very important to follow a few simple steps.

Government Approvals

- In general, most warehousing projects now require some sort of permitting or documentation. The documentation needed is normally provided by your architect. They take the rack layout and provide a design showing that egress aisles, emergency lighting, and the fire suppression system is adequate for the products and type of rack being used.
- Below are what you need to do to secure proper permitting.
 - Rack Permitting Checklist
 - Facility Occupancy and Operational Checklist

QUALITY - THE CORNERSTONE OF CONTINUING SUCCESS

To ensure that all the materials used by Rack & Key Technical Services meet international quality standards and full fill the design, finish and performance requirements of the projects in question, the company following a strict Quality Control Policy at all stages of operation, from procurement of materials, work preparation through to site installation.

All departments are managed by industry professionals with proven track records in their relative fields. All personnel within the company are actively involved in the formulation, implementation and monitoring of the Quality Management System, thus ensuring customer satisfaction and enhancing the quality of life for all employees.

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY:

Rack & Key Technical Services firmly believes that the company will install and develop a health and safety culture across the organization, whereby a commitment to the prevention of both injury to employees, subcontractors or persons affected by our activities and incidents of damage or loss of property, plant and equipment will improve the overall performance of the business.
